Wet Cleaning by Electrolux

A green business proposal

Eco-friendly wet-cleaning with economical opportunities

Thinking of you

 Electrolux

A never ending business

*People have always cleaned their garments, and they always will.
Welcome to a business that will never cease to exist. Welcome to the world's no.1 wet-cleaning system ensuring a long-term and sustainable business.*

If you are in a position to invest, this is probably one of the most profitable and safest business opportunities.

Lagoon® by Electrolux Professional is the result of a long-term innovative collaboration with the textile industry and the garment care business. It's the first and only professional wet-cleaning system approved by Woolmark. It's the green alternative to traditional professional cleaning methods which doesn't need any environmental permits to start-up.

Water

The core value in your future business

Water is the source of all life, why not use it when possible.

The Lagoon® wet-cleaning system developed by Electrolux Professional combines natural elements, such as water and biodegradable detergents, with knowledge and expertise. The result is a unique system which is one step forward in the professional care of delicate garments. Smell, see and feel the difference.

Meeting customers' demands is the secret of any successful business. According to a recent survey* conducted in France*, 75% of the consumers when interviewed regarding their preferences in terms of garments' care, declared a clear propensity to wet-cleaning solutions, as opposed to other traditional cleaning methods. Environmental awareness, and desire for better results in term of smell, look and feel, were among the main reasons for the choice.

As a professional cleaner, by choosing Lagoon®, you now have the possibility to satisfy the demands of your customers. Be more sustainable, while delivering a superior quality result in terms of fabric care. With Lagoon® you can choose to be in line with the trends of the industry and to offer a quality treatment to your customers' most precious and delicate garments. By using Lagoon® all textiles will appear to be regenerated and are ensured longer life and superior condition.

Eco-friendly and healthy for textiles and people

The use of water and biodegradable detergents, as opposed to chemical solvents, reduces the risk of inhalation, burn and allergies. Customers coming into your Lagoon® shop will be welcomed by a pleasant smell of cleanliness. Your personnel will be granted a healthier environment to work in. Not least, your neighbours will not have a reason for complaints. You will be able to start your Lagoon® shop basically anywhere, without need of permissions.

The biodegradable detergents used in the process are compliant to the international environmental standards EC 91/155. As Lagoon® is regarded as an eco-friendly solution for professional garments' cleaning, in some countries and regions, special benefits are available for starting this business.

Alternative to traditional cleaning

Lagoon® by Electrolux is the perfect alternative. Lagoon® includes cleaning, drying and finishing equipment. Water is used as the base for an effective and ecological fibers' detergency and regenerating process. As the first and only wet-cleaning system to have been granted the endorsement by the Woolmark Company, Lagoon® provides a level of comfort and immediate recognition that no other equipment or system is capable of providing.

Dedicated programs and specially developed detergents, assure superior cleaning results to the most delicate garments, even the ones labelled with (P) "dry-clean only".

As a unique asset to your business communication, the Woolmark symbol is a registered trademark of The Woolmark Company.
